Disclaimer

GS1®, under its IP Policy, seeks to avoid uncertainty regarding intellectual property claims by requiring the participants in the Work Group that developed this Settlement Business Message Standard (BMS) to agree to grant to GS1 members a royalty-free licence or a RAND licence to Necessary Claims, as that term is defined in the GS1 IP Policy. Furthermore, attention is drawn to the possibility that an implementation of one or more features of this Specification may be the subject of a patent or other intellectual property right that does not involve a Necessary Claim. Any such patent or other intellectual property right is not subject to the licencing obligations of GS1. Moreover, the agreement to grant licences provided under the GS1 IP Policy does not include IP rights and any claims of third parties who were not participants in the Work Group.

Accordingly, GS1 recommends that any organization developing an implementation designed to be in conformance with this Specification should determine whether there are any patents that may encompass a specific implementation that the organisation is developing in compliance with the Specification and whether a licence under a patent or other intellectual property right is needed. Such a determination of a need for licencing should be made in view of the details of the specific system designed by the organisation in consultation with their own patent counsel.

5 Business Message Examples

5.1 Example

This is an example of a Settlement message. The message is sent on 14th of April at 11 AM. The message is identified with the unique identifier SE25709.

In this scenario, the Buyer's corporate head office makes the payments on behalf one of its retail stores.

The settlement message is sent by the Payer (GLN 5412345000013) to the head office of the Payee (GLN 4098765000010).

The two invoices IN11-548 and IN11-549 were for orders/goods that were placed and received by a particular store location (GLN 5412345000174).

7 Summary of Changes

Any change in the GS1 standards is done based on the Work Request (WR) submitted by the GS1 User Companies or Member Organisations. All Work Requests are documented in the Work Request system available on the GS1 website: <http://wr.gs1.org>. The system is accessible to registered users. New visitors need to register first, to be able to access it. WRs can be searched by the number referenced in tables below, see: Search Work Requests. The number starts with the two last digits of the year when it was submitted, followed by the consecutive number within that year.

Note: WRs submitted earlier than February 2012 should be searched in Old Change Requests.
